New Catholic College.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Ground has been broken for the foundation of the new Holy Cross college to be erected by the Very Rev. Dr. Zahm, provincial of the congregation of the Holy Cross, on the tract of land known as Rosemont, adjoining the Catholic university. Dr. Zahm put a spade into the ground and threw aside the first shovelful of earth. Mr. Conaty following by raising the second shovelful. The college is intended for those members of the congregation of the Holy Cross who have taken the their degrees in the University of Notre Dame, and who are here to complete their theological course.

Want to Keep Iloilo.

St. Louis, Jan. 22.—J. Lasoda, M. Marti Burgos and J. Luna, commissioned representatives of Aguinaldo, the insurgent leader, passed twenty minutes in St. Louis on their way to Washington. Senor Burgos declared Aguinaldo would think well before allowing the Americans to take Iloilo.

"It is a big city," he said, "and a prize that we captured through our own efforts."

Asked if there would be a specific plan mentioned for disposing of the Philippine islands to the natives, Senor Burgos said: "No, I think not; but we have a proposition under consideration which I cannot make public at this time. We will meet our ambassador, Agoncillo, in Washington and consult with him before seeing the president."

Territory Cattlemen.

Fort Worth, Jan. 22.—The question as to what effect certain proposed actions by the federal government in relation to the Indians and their lands will have upon cattlemen who are doing an extensive ranch business in the Indian Territory is one of much concern, especially to the capitalists of Texas who are interested in that country. In the Creek nation it is yet a question whether or not the allotment measure will be passed, but the probabilities are that it will be adopted in the near future. Stockmen here do not apprehend that cattlemen will be bothered there this season. They believe, however, that the time is coming, and that very soon, when stockmen will not be able to hold large pastures in one block of land. Schemes to defeat the allotment measure are already being originated. One is to fence ten mile square pastures and have them allotted to a number of "niggers" and Indians who are eligible and thus hold a large pasture under the new law. But whether the government will allow this is a question. The future of large herds in the Indian country is very uncertain.

National Prison Reform.

New Orleans, Jan. 22.—The National Prison Reform association had a busy day of it, although it lost in attendance by dividing its forces. Bishop Sessums preached to the convention at Christ church cathedral, dealing eloquently with crime and its punishment and prevention and the reformation of criminals. At the same hour Mrs. Ellen Johnson spoke at the Unitarian church upon the means of reforming women criminals, as practiced at the state institution at Sherburne, Mass., of which she is superintendent. There were three meetings at night. General Brinkerhoff occupied the Methodist pulpit and spoke on the general subject of prison reform. There was another meeting at the Unitarian church with Mrs. Barrows of Massachusetts, Judge Follette of Ohio and J. T. Scott of Concord, Mass., as the speakers. The main night meeting was at Tulane hall, where the subject of child saving was discussed by Rev. U. Warner of this city, H. H. Hart of Chicago and Rev. Dr. Backner of Dallas, Tex.

Not Yellow Fever.

Havana, Jan. 22.—There is not a single case of yellow fever in General Lee's camp. The two suspected cases in the First Texas have been diagnosed as typhoid fever and pneumonia respectively.

Has Faith.

Boston, Jan. 22.—T. B. Kinraid, the sole legatee of the Keely motor, is not disturbed by the reports from Philadelphia of tubing found in Keely's workshop through which compressed air might have been forced. Kinraid is working at Jamaica Plain to discover the inventor's secret. Referring to his last visit to Keely's workshop, he said: "I told the owners of the building at that time that it would be unwise to leave the mess there, as it would create a lot of theories among those who might visit the building with a desire to make a sensation out of a small and unimportant matter."

Mr. Kinraid was asked if he would say whether it was true that there was tubing used in connection with the great steel sphere found last week, which conducted the forces that moved the motor in the exhibition room. Mr. Kinraid answered: "I cannot make any reply to this direct question in view of my position with the company. However, the members of the stock company who have been putting in their money to carry on this work knew all about this force, and if they thought it was a swindle, as stated in this story from Philadelphia, they would no doubt say so."

Shafter Says It Was Perfect

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—A public reception was given to Major General Shafter by the citizens of San Francisco last night at the Palace hotel. General Shafter made a brief speech, in which he reviewed the Santiago campaign. In conclusion he said:

"The campaign has been criticized, but heretofore I have said little about it. Now that I am at home and among friends, I have no hesitation in saying that not a mistake nor a blunder was made in that campaign. If you want to hurt anybody, you have got to get up near enough so they can hurt you. (Cheers) It was a fight between men, and the victory went to the best soldiers and the best marksmen. We kept the enemy so busy they had no time to attack our flanks."

Canned Beef Test.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Chemist Wylie of the department of agriculture has reported to Secretary Wilson that an examination of samples of canned meats secured both in the open market and from the war department to determine the presence of any chemical preservatives failed to disclose any traces of borax, boric acid, sulphites, sulphurous acid, salicylic or benzoic acids. The presence of saltpeter was confirmed in all the samples of corned beef and so called luncheon beef, but no trace of was discovered in the roast beef though common salt was present to considerable extent. The test was made under an order of Secretary Wilson.

The annual meetings of the stockholders of the Beaumont Lumber company and Nona Mills company were held in their offices in this city today. The following is the result of the election of Beaumont Lumber company directors: F. L. Carroll, G. W. Carroll, J. N. Gilbert, C. Wallis of Galveston and L. B. Pipkin. F. L. Carroll was elected president, G. W. Carroll vice president and John N. Gilbert, secretary. The election for the Nona Mills company had not taken place at the time of going to press.
